

Scripps appoints Marc Jaromin VP and GM of WKBW in Buffalo, New York

Oct. 14, 2019

CINCINNATI – The E.W. Scripps Company (NASDAQ: SSP) has appointed Marc Jaromin as vice president and general manager for WKBW, Scripps' ABC affiliate in Buffalo, New York. His new role is effective today.

Jaromin has more than 20 years of experience working across television station operations, including local station ownership, management, marketing and sales. He currently serves as president and CEO of Roundtable Management Services, a media consulting business located in Perrysburg, Ohio.

Previously, Jaromin served as director of media operations for Buckeye Broadband, an Ohio-based multichannel video programming distributor, and vice president and general manager at WROC in Rochester, New York. Early in his career, Jaromin also served as local sales manager at WKBW, when it was owned by Granite Media.

"We are looking forward to welcoming Marc back to Buffalo to lead the WKBW team in serving local audiences and advertisers," said Brian Lawlor, president of Local Media. "Marc's in-depth experience across television operations and his ability to cultivate leadership in others make him a great fit for 7 Eyewitness News and its community."

Jaromin also serves as an associate dean for the National Association of Broadcasters Leadership Foundation's industry-recognized Broadcast Leadership Training program.

"I am eager to return to my hometown and join WKBW's dedicated team of people serving the Western New York community," said Jaromin.

A native of Buffalo, Jaromin attended Canisius College and received his degree in broadcast and mass communications from the State University of New York at Oswego. Jaromin met and married his wife Michelle in Buffalo, and they will be returning with their two daughters.
