

Veteran anchor Rob Nelson moves to mornings on Newsy

June 1, 2022

ATLANTA – Veteran anchor Rob Nelson is taking on a new role at Newsy, co-anchoring “Morning Rush” from 7 to 11 a.m. ET weekdays alongside Newsy veteran Alex Livingston.

Nelson joined Newsy in September 2021 as anchor of “Newsy Reports.” He’s anchored the network’s coverage of a variety of news events, including Colin Powell’s funeral, the war in Ukraine and the school massacre in Uvalde, Texas.

Nelson has worked as a professional journalist for more than 20 years. His experience includes stints at ABC News in New York as co-anchor of “World News Now” and “America This Morning,” the nation’s top-rated early morning national newscasts, and WABC, the nation’s most-watched local station. In 2020, Nelson became one of the inaugural anchors for cable network NewsNation.

“Rob brings energy, enthusiasm and his deep roots in high-quality journalism to ‘Morning Rush,’” said Eric Ludgood, head of Newsy. “Through his experience anchoring morning shows, he has developed a wealth of knowledge about how to serve this important audience.”

Beginning June 6, Nelson will co-anchor “Morning Rush”, updating viewers on the day’s news, with top stories from around the world and timely topics.

The morning program will include regular features, such as:

- “Tech Rush,” which examines technology news as well as showing off the latest gadgets;
- “Family Value,” which looks at the financial and consumer news that helps all families;
- “Food Rush,” which offers the latest trends in the restaurant industry as well profiles on culinary characters who bring food to the nation’s tables;
- “School Daze,” which tackles the hard issues of student debt, paying for higher education and offering solutions to the challenges facing students and their parents; and
- “Media Mix,” which looks at the latest trends in America’s communications consumption.

Nelson is a Mt. Laurel, New Jersey, native. He graduated from the University of North Carolina in 2000 with degrees in journalism and political science. Nelson and his wife, Jenny, have a 2-year-old son.

Newsy, owned by The E.W. Scripps Company (NASDAQ: SSP), is the country’s only free, over-the-air live 24/7 news network. Find out how to watch Newsy here.
